

New Energy Capital Partners Appointed Sub-Advisor to North Sky Capital Alliance Fund II

Hanover, NH – July 9, 2015 – New Energy Capital Partners, LLC (“NEC”), a leading alternative asset management firm focused on debt and equity investments in small- and mid-sized clean energy infrastructure projects and companies, today announced its appointment as sub-advisor to North Sky Capital’s Alliance Fund II (the “Fund”). This represents NEC’s second affiliation with North Sky Capital having acted as a manager to North Sky’s $207 million Alliance Fund I in 2012.

North Sky Capital’s Alliance Fund II is a $240 million fund that finances the construction and/or repowering of solar, wind, hydro, energy storage and other related projects. Investors include Taft Hartley pension plans, foundations, and family offices.

Scott Brown, Chief Executive Officer of NEC, said, “We are happy to extend our work with North Sky Capital and serve as a sub-advisor to their latest Fund. We think our industry experience and risk management processes, coupled with our broad diversification across the renewable energy markets, regulatory regimes, and technologies, offers North Sky’s investors unique access to the clean energy industry. We look forward to a long and prosperous relationship in the years ahead.”
